

IT Support Made Easy.

Are you losing traction keeping up with your technology? Do you need assistance making IT decisions that are best for your business? Would your organization benefit from the latest technology, but you don't have the expertise to deploy it? Or does your internal IT team lack the time needed to focus on your core mission?

MaxCare, our comprehensive and cost-effective Managed Services solution, allows you to outsource your technology in a way that is aligned with your organization's overall goals. After a thorough assessment, we'll design our services to specifically complement or extend your current IT capabilities. By outsourcing your IT, you'll experience cost savings, standardized operations and efficiencies, and simplified IT management and support.

"Healthcare environments are very complex from a HIPAA and privacy and security perspective. Vertikal6 took the time to understand the aspects of a clinical system, and have now deployed innovative technologies to allow us to maintain HIPAA compliance and privacy with the information we collect on our patients on a day-to-day basis."

-David Hemendinger, Chief Information Officer/CSO

"What surprises us most is that the customer service that Vertikal6 sells you, is actually true. Their customer service has been phenomenal. I can't speak more highly of their entire team from the top all the way down to the person that answers the phone. They have been great."

-Christine Cannata, Chief Financial Officer

"Vertikal6 is different than other IT companies because they get to know who you are as a company, what your technology needs are and understands the future and where you want to go. They become part of your family, they get to know you, they are fun to work with - very knowledgeable - and they are always available to help."

-David Giardino, President
